

44. A computer program, embodied on a non-transitory computer readable medium, the computer program configured to control a processor to perform a process, the process comprising:

receiving a relative signal quality measurement report for a user equipment based on a determination of active and inactive subframes of a plurality of subframes that may be associated with a WLAN communication from the user equipment; and allocating communication resources to the user equipment in response to the relative signal quality measurement report.

* * * * *